PROFITEER IS HURLED HEAD OF TREASURY

Ambassador Harvey Scored for Speech Made in London Recently

GO AFTER DEBS ALSO

Sarcasm is Removed From First Resolution on Harvey

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—George Harvey, American ambassador to London, was scored by the American Legion in convention here today for his address in London, wherein he was reported to have said America entered the war to "save her skin." After one resolution which scathingly denounced Harvey, had been defeated by a vote of 576 to 444, a substitute for the defeated resolution was introduced and adopted. The substitute was couched in terms declared to be more fitting the Legion.

It contained none of the references to Harvey such as "a colonel by courtesy of the South Carolina governor," as did the first one. The resolution adopted declared that it should be known for all time that America "fought for the freedom of the world" as well as for herself in the World War. The resolution endorsing the plan of the Washington disarmament conference was passed unanimously, as were other resolutions, except the one dealing with the chemical industry in the resolutions committee report.

Other resolutions adopted included a demand that Grover Bergdoll be returned from Germany and that Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader, be kept in prison until the expiration of his term.

James F. Scrugham, new vice-commander of the Legion, in reading the report of the legislative committee, brought a burst of cheering when he first mentioned the "bo us" bill.

"The greatest opposition we have had has been letters from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and President Harding," Scrugham said. In discussing the defeat of the bonus bill in congress, Scrugham said:

"One of the greatest factors in the defeat of the law was a man who was the world's largest profiteer."

He means Secretary Mellon," yelled a voice from the audience. Others took up the cry.

"That's the man! That's the man!" the delegates yelled back. The resolution went to the convention without remarks.

BIKE THIEVES ARE BEGINNING AGAIN

An epidemic of bicycle thefts is here again. There seems to be a gang of bicycle thieves who apparently work on a schedule. Everything is quiet for a while when suddenly there are reports from all parts of the city that wheels have been stolen in day hours and some of them are taken from the busiest corners of the city. These thefts continue for a few weeks and then subside as suddenly as they start.

C. M. L. Nelson reported that some one had stolen his wheel from the Presbyterian church at Broadway and Cedar street. Tuesday Mrs. Bradbury of 519 North Louise street reported that thieves had taken her boy's cycle car. It was later recovered at Burchett and Orange street by Gordon Mapes.

MEXICAN CAUGHT UNAWARES TODAY

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 2.—Luis Guillen, alias Vincente Melgosa, will be tried in Superior Court No. 1 before Judge George. R. Freeman, on November 22. 23 and 25, for the murder of Deputy Sheriffs Theodore Trossley and Henry F. Nelson. Guillen this morning acknowledged his identity. On the wail of the county jail is a large picture of the Mexican and the woman he claims to be his wife. District Attorney Loyal Kelley caught Guillen off his guard and asked him where he had the picture taken. He replied, "In California." This is the first time the prisoner has admitted his identity.

HIGH SCHOOL FLOAT FOR LEGION PARADE

A special committee composed of Miss Abbott, Miss Crandall and Miss Abel of the art department of Glendale High, Arthur Oliver and George O. Lockwood, of the mechanical arts department, and Principal George U. Moyse, is considering designs and construction problems of the float which is to represent the school in the local Armistice Day parade. It will be a tribute to the service men who had been students of Glendale High, the motto being, "Lest We Forget."

MRS. RIFENBERICK SUSTAINS INJURY

Mrs. J. E. Rifenberick, who formerly resided in the Tropico Hotel on San Fernando road, and is now living on Seneca avenue, had the misfortune to fall from a stepladder a few days ago. She escaped serious injury, however, and is now on the road to recovery, though she will probably be confined to her bed for a week. Her daughters-in-law, Mesdames Charles and Tom Rifenberick, are with her.

Cowardice—Fear Elements in Life That Bear Down

Cowardice—held by men to be the most contemptible of weaknesses.

Fear—the deadly enemy of independence, progress and achievement.

Yet cowardice is one of the ruling things in life.

And fear sans every bit of strength.

It is upon this subject that James W. Foley philosophizes this evening in "The Listening Post" to be found on the editorial page. We commend it to your consideration.

Henry James in his comments on the day's news sees an amazing attitude on the part of a portion of the press toward persons charged with murder and he discusses this and other subjects.

Dr. Frank Crane says fanaticism dies hard and he writes of "Der Next Tag," and shows how they are going about preparing for the day they hope will come when the Hohenzollerns are back in power.

Editorials on "The Doctrine of Hate," "The Welcome to Foch" and other timely subjects as well as other features make up an intensely interesting and instructive page.

BORAH TO LECTURE FOR BIG PARLEY

Author of Conference Will Tell People What They Must Demand

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Senator Borah is about to begin his task of keeping the pro of public opinion constantly behind the arms conference. Borah will tell the people they should demand and insist on getting:

1. Reasonable publicity about the arms conference.
2. Actual and substantial limitation of armaments, particularly of navies.

In a series of speeches in the senate and in the leading cities, Borah will try to mold public opinion along practical lines. The people, he said today, will get just about as much out of the conference as they insist on getting.

TOOK WIFE AWAY IS CHARGE OF RANCHER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Allegations that his wife was taken away from him and he was assigned two women in her place; that he was defrauded out of his farm; and other startling charges were made against W. ALICE GENTLE WILL BE HEARD HERE IN CONCERT DEC. 2D

Music Club Gives Out News of Famous Singer's Visit Next Month

The Glendale Music Club is doing big things and getting itself into the limelight. At a meeting of the executive board Tuesday evening, announcement was made that Alice Gentle, famous operatic star, had been secured as soloist for the concert on December 2.

As the seating of the auditorium of Glendale High can be increased by the addition of a row or two of extra chairs, the board decided to place on sale in Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock, tickets for one hundred seats, which can be provided in addition to those needed for the regular club membership.

If the drive for members which the club is now putting on, is as successful as it promises to be, the club membership will be sufficient to fill the auditorium to its ordinary capacity.

WITH MIND OF CHILD FARM LABORER IS HELD FOR CRIME

Says He Buried Body of Employer as Requested Before Suicide

ALBANY, Ore., Nov. 2.—Peter Beebe, 25, farm laborer, almost blind since childhood, and with the mind of a child, according to physicians, today still stuck to his weird story of how John Painter and his son, William, had met their death and been buried in the shallow grave where Sheriff Kendall found them yesterday. Beebe is held on a warrant charging him with shooting both Painters to death with a revolver. According to Beebe's story, the elder Painter and his son had quarreled. He was working some distance from the farm house when he heard two shots.

Later at the house the elder Painter told him he had shot his son and hidden his body in the straw shed.

John Painter then insisted on killing himself. He made Beebe promise, according to the hired man's story, to bury both bodies and say both men had left the country.

Beebe related how the elder Painter then shot himself several times, with a rifle, removing the last shell before he died. The hired man hid the two bodies in the straw shed for a time and later loaded them on a sled and took them into the timber for burial.

The grave Sheriff Kendall found was about 30 inches deep and wide enough for two bodies. The elder Painter, according to Beebe's story, made the hired man promise not to reveal what had become of the two men other than to say William Painter had gone south, while the old man had returned to his home in Pennsylvania.

COAL MINE STRIKE GROWING IN EAST

Over 20,000 Men Have Quit Work in Various States in East

(By United Press)

On the verge of winter, America was threatened with a fuel famine today. The growing "outlaw" strike of union miners, combined with the existing shortage in coal supplies produced a situation generally regarded as serious. More than 20,000 miners already had quit work in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana in protest against the federal injunction abolishing the "check-off" system of collecting union dues.

The fact that officials of the United Mine Workers in Indianapolis had instructed the 350,000 members of that organization to regard operators' compliance with the injunction as a violation of the present contracts, which terminate in March, was looked upon as an invitation for a general walkout.

The check-off system which has brought about a crisis between the coal miners of the country, their employers and federal court, is the method used to collect union dues.

Mine operators withhold the union men's dues from his pay and turn it over to union officers. It is the only method by which the closed shop can be enforced in the industry, union heads claim.

STEAMER ASHORE

TACOMA, Nov. 2.—The steamer West Orowe, bound for Tacoma from Vancouver, went aground early today at the Old Tacoma Mill company's site during a dense fog. The vessel is reported to be in no danger. It is expected that it will be floated off at high tide tonight.

HIGH SCHOOL SITES DISCUSSED AGAIN FOOTHILL ASS'N

Will Circulate Petition for Change of Vine Street to Western Avenue

There was no lack of enthusiasm or interest at the meeting of the Foothill Improvement association, held Tuesday night at the Botsford warehouse, which was attended by 80 members. The chief theme of discussion was the site for the proposed new high school which all present were agreed should be located where it would best serve the northwest district. Messrs. Mitchell, Foley and Gray were leaders in the discussion.

Secretary Rhoades and Assistant Secretary Sanders of the Glendale chamber of commerce explained the appointment of the advisory committee by directors of the chamber at the request of members of the high school board of trustees, and also explained the neutral position of the chamber as a whole.

The association voted for a change in the name of Vine to Western avenue and Mrs Lucas was requested to circulate a petition for the change to be presented to the city council. The association also went on record as favoring the opening of Glenwood avenue (formerly Sixth street) from Grand View to Pacific.

OFFER 1000 ACRES FOR UNIVERSITY

E. G. Lewis Also Will Give Million to Regents of State College

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—E. G. Lewis of Atascadero is to offer the regents of the University of California $1,000,000 in cash and 1,000 acres of the great Palos Verde rancho, near San Pedro, it was announced today. The purpose of the offer is to establish facilities for a greatly extended southern branch of the state university, according to Prof. H. T. Cory, San Francisco consulting engineer, who has just completed a survey of the Palos Verde for Lewis.

"There are no strings to be attached to this offer," Prof. Cory said. "Mr. Lewis sincerely hopes for its acceptance."

The public is cordially invited to hear the lecture, which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

KU KLUX KLAN BOOK MISSING FROM SHELF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The original copyrighted copy of the Kloran, manual of the Ku Klux Klan, is missing from its usual place on the shelves of the library of congress, Superintendent Ashley of the library reading room, admitted today. The opinion was expressed by Ashley that the book had not been stolen, but a check-up is being made in an attempt to trace the document, which has been on file there since it was copyrighted.

WILL PROVE TO WORLD HE HAS TRUE REPORT

Tom Watson, Fiery Senator From Georgia Says He is Ready

HE SCORES COMMITEE

Wants Charges Aired in Open Senate so World Will Know All

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Senator Tom Watson, Georgia, declared today that he would "prove before the senate and the world" his sensational charges that American soldiers were hanged without trial in France.

Watson said he would reserve the right "as a senator" to present proof of his charges against the military authorities in open senate and not before the special committee of five senators appointed to investigate the accusation.

"Already, with the matter but 24 hours old," said Watson, "I have received telegrams and letters from ex-service men all over the country volunteering to aid me in proving my case. I have written to the men in Georgia who originally gave me the evidence of the gallows upon which 21 American soldiers were hanged. I can prove that charge by a score of witnesses."

Asked if he would refuse to appear before the special committee, of which Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, is chairman, Watson replied that he had expressed himself as "willing to go before any impartial body of senators." He indicated that he would flatly refuse.

"Senator Wadsworth made his charges in the open senate," declared Watson, "and I believe that the open senate is the place to reply to them. I do not intend to have this case bottled up and chloroformed in some committee. I have seen too many cases die an unnatural death as a result of committee procedure."

Senator Watson's charges of war executions without court-martial in France brought a storm of denials from army officers. Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, called a meeting of his special investigating committee today to arrange for the probe into the charges. Col. Kreger, in charge of court-martials abroad, holds that the public has an exaggerated idea of what disciplinary measures were taken.

LOCAL LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL TEAM IS EASY WINNER

Defeated Franklin Team by Score of 28 to 0 on Local Ground Tuesday

Glendale High school lightweight football team defeated the Franklin High school team by a score of 28 to 0 and won the lightweight championship of the central league, Tuesday afternoon on Moyse field. This was the sixth league game played by the lightweights and as far as Glendale is concerned, closes the season. The local team has won every game.

Glendale's line was unusually strong Tuesday and played a good game. Their interference was almost perfect and at no time was the outcome doubtful. Every player played real football and when the final whistle blew, the Franklin players left the field with the conviction that they had played a real football game.

Glendale received the ball on the kickoff and McKee tucked it under his arm and went down the field for a gain of 35 yards on the first play. The first touchdown was made by Roberts on a line buck through right tackle. White followed the touchdown made by Roberts with another a little later. White made his touchdown on a line buck after Gingery had worked a 20-yard run around left end.

Another touchdown was maue by Gingery on a line buck. Butts also went through the line for a touchdown. Horii kicked all goals for the Glendale team and drove them over the bar with the same skill and precision that has marked his kicking all season. Horii is one of the flashiest players on the light team. He always plays a brilliant game and seems to divine a play before it is made and is always in a position to do his share stopping it. Butts is another brilliant player and can always be depended upon for a gain and is a consistent ground gainer.

The winning of the game yesterday gives Glendale an opportunity to play for the lightweight title of Southern California. The league season is closed for them but pickup games will be played to keep the boys in condition for the title contests that will be played later in the month.

NATIONAL HOLDIAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—A resolution declaring November 11, 1921, a national holiday was passed by the senate today. In presenting the resolution, Senator Nelson, Minnesota, explained that the resolution applied only to Armistice Day of this year, in honor of the burial of the unknown American soldier at Arlington national cemetery.

DAMAGED

SOUTH GLENDALE ACTIVITIES

VARIETY STORE TO OPEN ON SATURDAY

The formal opening of the South Glendale Variety Store will be on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. This store, which is located at 1413 South San Fernando road, is the only store of its kind in the southern end of the city. That it is filling a long-felt want is shown by the fact that before half of the goods were on the shelves the proprietor was forced to open his doors to the public. The people insisted on being admitted and during the week many sales have been made. B. V. Brasher, proprietor of the establishment, is hurrying to get everything in shape for the opening Saturday. He is being assisted by his father-in-law, Fred Fry, of Dallas, Texas.

HOLD BROKER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The first arrest in connection with the hold-up of a mail truck October 24, and the theft of cash and securities valued at more than $1,00,000, was made when Geo. De Mange, 30 years old, a broker, was held on a charge of being implicated.

MOTORISTS HAPPY OVER IMPROVEMENT

Motorists of the southern section of the city are rejoicing on account of the manner in which the Southern Pacific Co. has improved the crossing at the point where the S. P. tracks cross Brand boulevard. The company has filled in the tracks for a space of about three car-widths with oil and gravel, this making it possibe for two cars to pass at this point in safety.

BATTERY SERVICE STATION OPENED

A strictly modern battery service and solid tire station has been opened by "Buck" Mayn at 327 West Los Feliz road, in the building erected for that purpose by W. E. Anderson, the oil station and garage man. Mr. Mayn is equipped to care for every part of the battery in the most up to-date way. He has a tire press with which to take off and put on solid tires of all makes and sizes.

The Women's Missionary Society of the South Glendale Presbyterian church will meet in the church on Thursday of next week.

ANDY'S AIRPLANE

1418 SOUTH SAN FERNANDO ROAD, GLENDALE

SOUTH GLENDALE'S GROWTH BEGINNING

New Buildings Show Renewed Activity During Past Few Weeks

South Glendale is taking on new activity. For a long time that section has been marking time, during which the central and northern parts of the city have been very wideawake. The people are talking better times, real estate is changing hands, here and there someone is putting up a residence or several homes. The tourist entering that section sees that something is in the wind.

Ground was broken yesterday morning at the junction of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road for a business block for George B. Carr, formerly of Kansas, who has come to South Glendale to see that things are kept humming in that locality. This building will contain four storerooms and, for the present, will be of one story. The intention is to increase this to two stories just as soon as business warrants, and the builder would not hesitate to increase the number of stores should they be demanded.

The architecture of this building will be along Spanish lines. The plans were drawn and the construction work is being done by the Roy L. Kent Co., of South Brand boulevard. One of the storerooms has been rented to Claude Caswell, who will maintain an up-to-date market, while another of the rooms will be occupied by the owner of the building who will maintain a modern shirt factory. Although the other two rooms have not yet been rented, a large number of applications have been received for them. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy about the middle of December.

Rumor has it that one and possibly two other business structures will be started in this immediate vicinity within a short time.

Another business block that is just being started is the one beign put up by Hal Davenport on the west side of Brand boulevard just north of Cypress street. This building will be 58 by 60 feet in size and will contain four storerooms. It is expected the building will be completed in 60 days. Mr. Davenport owns the property adjoining the piece on which the building is being erected and it is expected he will build on his other holdings before a great while. The structure now being built by Mr. Davenport will cost about $8000.

The walls for the two-story brick building, 32 by 32 feet, that is being constructed by G. H. McLean on San Fernando road near Central avenue, are up and it looks as though this building will be completed within another month. The structure will cost $1000.

Another structure to be finished recently is the oil station and garage which was built and is owned by B. G. aJckson, at the intersection of San Fernando road and Eulalia street. The building is constructed of brick and is cement covered.

The foregoing show that something is really doing in the way of the construction of strictly business houses. And it may truthfully be said that the building of homes is more than keeping pace with the erection of business blocks, which all goes to show that things are starting to hum in that South Glendale "neck o' the woods."

ATTEND PICNIC OF CRAWFORD PEOPLE

A party of South Glendale people were in attendance at the picnic of Crawford, Kan., folks, which was held at Echo Park picnic grounds last Sunday. At noon, several large tables were spread with good things, which were enjoyed by 60 people. Among those from South Glendale attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Danner and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Singleton and family and Marshall Hollman. This picnic is a semi-annual affair.

TEA-COFFEE HOUSE OPENED BY CHAPMAN

Chapman Bros., members of which firm are H. L. and J. J. Chapman, have opened a tea, coffee and spice store at 1528 South San Fernando road. This firm was formerly located at 212 South Brand boulevard. The new establishment of this firm was formerly opened Saturday morning, and the boys report that a very encouraging business has been done since that time. While their place of business in located in the southern end of the city, Chapman Bros. will continue to serve customers all over the city.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

R. C. CALLAWAY

R. C. Callaway, 56 years of age, formerly of Los Angeles, died Tuesday night at the Glendale sanitarium and will be buried Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. in Forest Lawn cemetery. The remains are at the undertaking establishment of Pulliam and Kieffer on East Broadway.

Mr. Callaway was a native of Georgia and is survived by a widow, Mary L. Callaway.

BERTHA HATCH

Miss Bertha Hatch, sister of Miss Lois Hatch, principal of the Doran street school, died this morning of pneumonia after a short illness at her home in Hollywood. The Doran school P.-T. A. meeting, which was to have been held this afternoon, was called off because of Miss Hatch's bereavement.

GLENDALE MEN YOU SHOULD KNOW

GEORGE H. KING

George H. King, attorney, with offices on East Broadway, is a native of New Orleans. Mr. King has been admitted to practice law in Washington, Oregon and California. For four years he was city attorney of Port Angeles, Wash. He resigned to come to Glendale and engage in general practice. Mr. King has been a resident of Glendale for four months and is an ardent booster, taking an active part in civic life. He is a member of the chamber of commerce.

South Glendale

PERSONALS—BRIEFS

Rev. J. G. Blue of Pasadena preached at both morning and evening services of the South Glendale Presbyterian church last Sunday. In the morning, his theme was "God's Country," while in the evening he took for his subject, "Prayer." Rev. Rider, the regular pastor of the church, preached at the First Methodist church of Glendale last Sunday morning. Rev. Rider reports that every branch of his church is growing and Sunday school attendance is increasing rapidly, and that things are generally encouraging.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Marple and little son, "Joe, Jr.," will leave tomorrow noon for a trip of four weeks in the mountains and two weeks at the seashore. Four weeks will be passed in the Santa Anita canyon in the region of Fern Lodge, where a beautiful cabin will be occupied, and after returning from the hills, Dr. Marple and family will spend a couple of weeks on Balboa island, where the time will be passed in sailing, rowing, fishing, etc. Dr. Marple is in a rundown condition, due to overwork, and he is taking this method of "coming back."

The regular meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Club will be held in the hall over the branch library at the corner of Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard, on Thursday evening. There are a number of important matters to be brought before the meeting and a good attendance is desired.

The people of South Glendale are anxious to learn just when the widening of Los Feliz road is going to take place. This improvement has been under consideration for a long time and the people of that section are anxious to see it brought to a successful conclusion.

"Business is good," says G. M. Stull, who opened a second-hand furniture store recently at 1420 South San Fernando road. "The people of the southern section are falling right in line. We are more than gratified at the way they are treating us."

The Thursday Afternoon Club will meet in the branch library building, corner Los Feliz and Brand, tomorrow. The meetings of this association are held twice a month. A good attendance is expected at the meeting tomorrow.

TUJUNGA CHAMBER ADDS NEW MEMBERS

Acacia Club to Purchase Five Lots for New Masonic Temple

TUJUNGA, Nov. 2.—At the meeting of the chamber of commerce last night 46 new members were added to the rolls, making a total of 350. A new board of directors will be elected at the meeting on November 15.

The Acacia club has voted to purchase five lots on the state highway near the Higher Thought college for the erection of a Masonic temple to be used by the lodge that is in the process of organization in Tujunga.

Addison Wells has returned from Chicago and is actively engaged in preparing for the opening of the Monte Vista Valley bank.

OFFICER HURT.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 2.—Motorcycle Patrolman Rex may die because of injuries suffered when his machine ran into a garbage can. The can had been rolled into the street by boys as a Hallowe'en prank. Five boys have been arrested.

Game Postponed.—The soccer game which was to have been played Tuesday afternoon between teams of Cerritos and Eagle Rock schools, was called off on account of the illness of Coach Samos. He is all right today, however.

POLICE RAID HALL SHOWING PICTURE

Arrest Scores for Attending Indecent Exhibition in Private Show

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Four hundred saddened men had their names on the police blotter here today, all because they attended an "ultra modern" moving picture show. They owe their predicament to the women's vigilant committee, which caused a squad of 20 policemen to raid a hall where a private showing of a film was being held, and arrest the audience.

Charges of attending an indecent exhibition were placed against the 400 men, most of whom were able to secure release on bail. The raid occurred late in the evening when the police broke into the hall and stopped the show. More than 100 of those present were able to escape in the rush which followed the announcement that "the house is pinched."

Police announced they were investigating what they believe is a ring of "wildcat" motion picture producers making alleged obscene pictures here. The announcement followed the raid. Police seized the film and secured the name of a woman said to have received $35 for posing in the nude as a prologue to the film.

MILO WHEAT PLANT'S OUTPUT HERE IS GROWING DAILY

T. W. McConnel has started the Los Angeles Milo Wheat Company at 1501 South San Fernando road and is introducing the product in the local market. This factory started in Glendale less than a month ago, manufacturing a cereal food known as Milo Wheat. It is made from whole wheat and according to reports, is winning favor as a breakfast food. According to Mr. McConnell this food can be used either as a cooked cereal or as uncooked food to be eaten with milk and sugar. It is rich in food value and has been branded as 100 per cent food by the government. There are 500 Glendale families using the product and it is on sale in most of the grocery stores.

WRESTLING BOUT ARMISTICE WEEK

Final arrangements for a wrestling bout between "Butch" Metzetti and George Hackenschmidt, former holder of the national title, has been arranged, articles signed and the two will meet in Glendale during Armistice Week at the show grounds. Considerable interest has been aroused over his match as Hackenschmidt is a resident of Glendale and has given several exhibitions at the high school gymnasium for the National Guard companies. Metzetti says that he was not in condition for the match when he met Hackenschmidt before as it had been called off and after he had broken his training, the bout was called, and he was forced to "go." "Butch" has "blood in his eye" over the former bout and says that the match during Armistice Week will not be won as easily if Hackenschmidt wins it, as on the previous occasion.

STUNT PARTY WILL BE PUT ON FRIDAY

Women members of the faculty as well as the girl students of Glendale High are deep in conference relative to stunts to be put on at the annual girls' stunt party, which is to take place Friday evening in the girls' gym. Last year the faculty member won a prize, and having set so high a pace, they are spurred to surpass themselves. There is every promise that his party will be a hummer, and the men and boys of the school are in the qui vive of curiosity concerning it.

GIRLS IN HIGH NOW WANT A SECRETARY

There will be a student body meeting at the high school Friday to discuss an amendment to the student body constitution which would make provision for a secretary of girls' athletics in addition to the secretary of boys' athletics. The work has so developed that it has become too much for one secretary to handle and it is felt that the interests of the girls demand a secretary of their own.

Institute—The second local institute for Glendale teachers will take place at the high school next Thursday, which will probably be a holiday in the schols in consequence. No announcement of the program has yet been made.

Chain straw hats are garlanded with flowers.

WHIP NEGROES.

HAYNESVILLE, La., Nov. 2.—After they were severely whipped by a group of local citizens, nearly a score of negroes on Sunday were warned to go to work or leave town. The negroes were said by officials to be undesirables and the demonstration against them came as the beginning of a clean-up campaign here.

BIG BUDGET.

DENVER, Nov. 2.—Holding that the needs of more than 10,000 school children of Denver who are at present attending classes in basements, in outside of portable rooms, in halls and other places, should be taken care of in some measure, the school board has adopted a budget of $4,586,286 for the year 1921-22.

SEEK COUNTY AID TO COMPLETE WORK ON FLOOD CONTROL

Chambers Hear Complaint That Floods Would do Great Damage Here

The matter of having the county officials complete the work for which funds have been provided in protecting the city of Glendale from possible damages by flood waters of the wash that runs through the northern section of the city, was the principal topic of discussion at the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Tuesday. Mr. Hewett, general manager of the Glendale Laundry Co., whose place of business is located near the wash, gave a short talk as to the urgent need of the work which will safeguard the property located along the wash and also of the city in general.

G. B. Woodberry, who has lived in Glendale for years, and who has seen three floods caused by the overflowing of this wash, gave reasons why the chamber of commerce should immediately take steps for the completion of the flood control work.

"The person who has lived in Glendale but three or four years cannot possibly know or realize the damage that may be done by the waters of this wash in a heavy rainy season. I have seen this wash overflow its banks three times in a space of ten years. If not properly handled the waters of this wash can do a great deal of damage to the property of Glendale.

"At the present time, old locomotive pipes have been strung along the edge of the wash and to these wire has been fastened. The original intention was to plant two or three rows of trees behind these pipes and when the trees grow sufficiently large, to remove the wire from the pipes and fasten it to the trees.

"These trees have not been planted, although the money for the work has been appropriated. It is this additional flood control work that we are after. I cannot emphasize too highly the need of this work.' There is no sense in waiting until the waters are over the banks. We should do everything in our power to eliminate the possibility of this stream breaking out of its channel."

A committee consisting of Mr. Hewett, William Reeves, city manager, and G. B. Woodberry, was appointed to take the matter up with the city council and to ask that body to bring it to the attenion of he county officials at once.

A communication was read from the city council stating that the council thinks it not wise at this time, as suggested by the communication from the chamber of commerce to change the location of the big electrict "Glendale" sign on San Fernando road close to the city limits. It was decided to further wait on the city council to see if some settlement can be reached that will be satisfactory to all.

The board decided to take a page advertisement in the new city directory to be published soon in Glendale by the Western Directory Co. This advertisement is to cost $30.

Prof. Richardson D. White extended to the board of directors an invitation to attend the meeting which will be held in the auditorium of the Intermediate school Thursday night under the auspices of the Boy Scouts. The purpose of this meeting is to arrange for an Armistice Day celebration. Assistant Secretary Sanders was appointed as a representative of the chamber of commerce.

CLERGYMEN URGED REVOKE BEER ORDER

Three Hundred Methodist Preachers Address Resolution to Harding

The Methodist preachers' meeting was held Monday at the German church on Olive street, Los Angeles, with over 300 present. Several resolutions were passed, one of which was directed to President Harding, asking him to take action reversing the decision of the secretary of the treasury, with reference to allowing brewers to make and market beer and wine for medicinal purposes.

A resolution was also passed asking the limitation of arms, both of the army and navy. These resolutions and the enforcement of the Volstead act were discussed.

On Sunday, November 6, all the preachers are to speak on these questions and on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a general public citizens' meeting. There will be an address by Dr. Helm of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles at that time. All the labor organizations are invited to be present and everybody is cordially invited.

NOTED ARTIST WAS VISITOR TO FRIENDS

Wallace L. DeWolf and sister-in-law, Miss Lillian Ray, of Pasadena, were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Pearson, 644 East Harvard street. Mr. DeWolf is a famous artist with a wonderful studio in Pasadena, the walls of which are adorned with many beautiful paintings from his masterful hand. He has just returned from Chicago, where he spends two months of each year. There are several of his paintings in the great Art Institute in Chicago, of which he is one of the leaders. He has recently endowed a scholarship in one of Chicago's great educational institutions to aid some needy student struggling for an education.

Mrs. Maybelle Miebergen has been the guest of Mrs. John Crampton, 325 West Burchett street, for the past few days. Mrs. Miebergen is a former resident of Glendale, but has been in the East for the past five months.

ANCIENT HISTORY MADE BY PIONEERS

Early Settlers Had Eye to Future far Back as October 1886

On October 11, 1886, the first regular officers of the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association, then known as the Glendale Improvement Society, were elected, by-laws for the society were adopted and plans for securing a railroad to the San Fernando Valley were discussed.

The first permanent officers elected were: President, E. T. Byram; vice-president, I. M. Clippinger; treasurer, H. N. Jarvis, and secretary, J. C. Scherer. Mr. Scherer was also appointed as correspondent for the valley and instructed to write up the valley using his judgment as to what papers the writeups were to appear in. Following is a copy of the minutes of the second meeting of the Glendale Improvement Society:

Glendale, Oct. 11, 1886. Mr. Byram in chair. Mr. Sherer acting secretary. Minutes read and adopted. Committee on exhibit at fair reported misunderstanding, no progress. Members of road committee reported progress. Messrs. Jarvis, Ayers, Barber, P. D. Bullis, Crow, Klippinger and Sherer expressed themselves ready to give right-of-way for public roads along (or through) their premises. Mr. Bullis reported having petitioned City Council for bridge over Arroyo Seco, and that proper officers had been instructed by that body to make examination and report cost. He also reported that committee had been appointed by council to appraise damages due property owner (Mr. Gay) for straightening Wells street through to San Fernando road. Committee on by-laws offered their report which was adopted. The following names were added to subscribers of the association: J. C. Sherer, L. C. Miller, W. G. Watson, S. I. Mays, G. W. Woodward.

As a committee to circulate petitions for change of name of post-office from "Mason" to Glendale, Mr. Clippinger was appointed. The Society then elected the following officers: President, E. T. Byram; vice-president, I. M. Clippinger; treasurer, H. N. Jarvis, secretary, J. C. Sherer. On motion of Mr. Jarvis from committee on correspondence Mr. Sherer was engaged to "write up the valley," to use his judgment as to what papers he should write for.

The following committee was then appointed to confer with Los Angeles capitalists in reference to building railroad to valley: Messrs. Clippinger, Patterson and Sherer. On motion Messrs Crow and Byram were added to the committee. Mr. Bullis was appointed a committee of one to see about opening the road on north line of Mr. Crow's land. Mr. Riley was appointed to attend to opening road between E. Ayres and Mr. Wolf's land extending toward the river. Meeting adjourned until Monday evening, in accordance with by-laws.

J. C. Sherer, Secretary.

GO LIMIT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—British delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armaments will go to Washington resolved that, short of compromising the safety of the empire or its sea security, they will go to almost any lengths to meet other great naval powers in a mutual and proportionate effort to relieve their people from the burden of competitive armament.

ANOTHER PARK SITE IS SUGGESTED FOR CITY GLENDALE

Kensington Road Between Central Avenue and Columbus Street

The suggestion published in the Tuesday issue of the Glendale Daily Press prompted John D. Reavis of the Glendale Realty Exchange to offer another suggestion regarding a park. In making his suggestion he said: "I am an ardent booster for Glendale and am always ready to do anything for the betterment of the city whether it be in the matter of suggesting an idea that occurs to me or giving my time in furthering any proposition that is to work for the public welfare."

The park site suggested by Mr. Reavis is a tract of land on the north side of Kensington road between Central avenue and Columbus street that is now being filled to the street level with the dirt from the Central Christian church basement. This tract is on high ground and according to Mr. Reavis is an ideal site for a municipal park.

Mr. Reavis advocates building a cement wall along the wash and planting vines over it. The wash could be transformed, by planting vines to a beauty spot similar to Busch's Sunken Gardens in Pasadena. A rustic bridge made of cobble stones could be built, crossing the wash at a comparatively low cost, as the stones are in the wash. This site is protected from the danger of floods by the county flood control dams built farther up the valley, to the west. Mr. Reavis said:

"The outlook for visitors from this proposed park site would be wonderful. To the south one may look over the city of Glendale and to the north there is a grand view of the mountains. To my mind there is nothing so symbolic of the steadfastness of Glendale as the mountains to the north of the city. They have been there for ages and will continue for ages, growing more beautiful with the passing years. So it is with Glendale."

"From an economic angle, the city would benefit by the acquisition of this property for a park site, as it can be purchased for a mere song and when a park is completed, property values will increase and naturally the city will gain in the matter of taxes.

"My motive in suggesting this site for a municipal park is not actuated by any selfish or ulterior motive but from a sincere desire to help make Glendale an ideal place."

GEORGE T. SMITH IS ESTABLISHED HERE

On November 1, George T. Smith of Piqua, Ohio, took charge of the Chambers & Felts garage, 228 South Brand boulevard, as the new owner. Chambers & Felts were formerly the Glendale agents for the Hudson and Essex cars. Mr. Smith will handle exclusively the Willys-Knight and Overland automobiles.

In addition to having the sales agency for these two well known automobiles, Mr. Smith will install a service garage equipped to care for any make of car but will specialize in giving service to the owners of the Willys-Knight and Overland cars.

Mr. Smith is not a novice in the automobile business having been engaged in the automobile manufacturing business in his home town of Piqua, Ohio, for the past 11 years. In addition to being an experienced automobile man, Mr. Smith, who was for two years Exalted Ruler of Piqua Lodge No. 523, is a man of genial personality and has the happy faculty of making friends. In his home town he was assistant secretary and treasurer of the Meteor Motor Car company.

CHARLES RAY SHOWS ATHLETIC ABILITY

In "A Midnight Bell," which will be shown at the T. D. & L. theater for two days, beginning today, Charles Ray displays surprising athletic ability and strength. He has been surprised by a quartet of crooks while in a "haunted" church; from which they are tunneling to the basement of a bank. After a battle royal he is gagged and bound securely to a chair. In trying to reach the bell rope he falls over. Impossible as it may seem, it is a matter of record that Ray works his way toward a wall, and by using his head as a lever, manages to upright the chair, although his hands are tied so tightly that he cannot move them more than an inch or two.

Ray finally manages to catch hold of the rope with his finger; then, throwing himself forward, he catches his shoulder against it and by tilting the chair back and forth rings the bell and summons aid. It is a tense situation and one which goes over big.

Henry Lehrman's comedy, "Wet and Warmer," is an added attraction to the program.

COSTUMES CAUSED RIOT OF LAUGHTER

There were many quaint and humorous features at several of the Hallowe'en observances on Monday night. One of these was the costume in which Mrs. Herman Nelson of East Harvard street appeared as a guest at a party. It was a dress made nearly a century ago, of delicate gray silk poplin with puffed overskirt and tight-fitting basque, and fringed all over. Her hair was dressed in the old style with high back comb. She resembled the old pictures of Jenny Lind.

Other odd ones were those of Mrs. Eva Hutton, Mrs. J. H. Daugherty and Mrs. Mary E. Shropshire, who attended a party at Mrs. Hutton's on East Colorado, dressed as triplets. They were dressed alike, and all being of the same height, created no end of fun.

Truths in Epigram

To be conscious that you are ignorant is a great step to knowledge. —Benjamin Disraeli (1804-1881).

God's rarest blessing is, after all, a good woman.—George Meredith (1828-1913).

Heaven hath no rage like love to anger turned; Nor hell a fury like a woman scorned.—William Congreve (1670-1729).

THE WELCOME TO FOCH

Probably it is correct to say that the welcome to Marshal Foch, in the intensity of its spirit, the magnitude of the enthusistic crowds, and the genuineness of the friendship expressed, exceeded that ever extended to any individual previously landing on American shores.

There is deep admiration in this country for the French military leader. In time of stress he proved himself so capable, so fair to the elements in the vast army he directed, and as a man, so gentle and considerate, that he acquired a firm hold upon the affections of millions in the army and out.

Like the great Washington he was observed, when the burden was greatest, to enter the sanctuary, and ask Almighty God to guide him aright. A Christian of sweet and simple faith, he was at the same time the soldier, alert, quick to plan, fearless to execute. Viewed from any angle, he stood before the world an admirable figure.

For generations there has been a bond of amity between the people of the United States and France. This timely visit of a foremost figure of France will have the effect of strengthening the bond. It would not be strange were the feeling it engenders, or upon which it lays emphasis, to be a softening influence in the council chamber where disarmament is to be discussed.

BLANTON'S ERROR

Representative Blanton of Texas narrowly escaped expulsion from the house. As it was he was the recipient of censure in conditions that made the experience most humiliating.

His offense was that he had caused the printing of improper matter in the Congressional Record. By "improper" in this instance, is meant indecent. There is much printed in that publication that is so utterly worthless and misleading, that the propriety of presenting it may be questioned. Members insert speeches that they never deliver, with "applause" and "great applause" stuck in at intervals. They manage to include long editorials, poems, theses, trash. They continue to do a part of their campaigning in this manner without cost to themselves.

However, the Congressional Record, up to the time of Blanton's gross error, had been a fairly innocuous sheet. Anybody who chose to read it could be certain of being able to do so without experiencing a blush or being conscious of any strong emotion.

Seldom had a congressman had to pass through an ordeal so bitter as that under which Blanton nearly collapsed. It is fair to assume that the lesson in manners and morals will not be lost on him.

CALAMITY AVERTED

The calling off of the great strike hardly could be regarded as a surprise. The effect upon the industrial situation as threatened would have been stupendous. Violence probably could not have been avoided. The responsibility of precipitating such a strike was too much for any group of men to accept.

There must be better methods of settling disputes. An attempt at settlement that, as a mere incidental process, could not but work ruin to one side or the other, and throw the whole industrial mechanism into chaos, would be a desperate price to pay for ultimate victory.

Natural distrust between the organizations of labor and those of capital, furnishes a poor atmosphere in which to negotiate for an understanding.

When nations make treaties they assume the obligation to abide by the terms. When individuals enter into partnership, each is bound by law and honor to respect the rights of the other.

If industrial groups cannot function on a like plane, the fact is singular. It might be said to be inexplicable. Intelligence and integrity, in council with similar qualities on the other side of the controversy, would seem to be sufficient equipment.

It is not to be understood that refusal to call a strike after a strike has been planned, always is a surrender of principle. It may be wholly a matter of expediency.

THE DOCTRINE OF HATE

Elihu Root declares that the world is full of hatred because of the incapacity of people to become truly civilized. Mercy, compassion and sacrifice are needed for the upbuilding of character. Legal restraints cannot be effective.

Mr. Root will be one of the delegates to the disarmament conference. If able to carry into that assemblage the spirit that animates his words, he may be the instrument of great and measureless good. Could hatred be banished, there would be no need of a disarmament conference. There would be no armament.

Hatred is the basis of wars. Men do not turn poison gases upon their friends. Injustice increases and perpetuates hatred. There could not be a war without working a wrong upon some people perhaps not in the first place directly concerned. Germany was aiming at the heart of France, but won the hatred of Belgium.

In the Independent, Prof. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell college presents a paper with the caption "New Hates for Old." Prof. Steiner is an observer of high intelligence, keen in his perceptions, lucid in their portrayal. His conclusions have definite value. He found that over in his native Austria, there had been the creation of a new set of hatreds. The war had not brought tranquilty. Certain Germans he describes as "reluctant czechs." Magyars who have had to swear allegience to Slovakia or Rumania, are not content nor sincere. Austrians governed by Italians long for a day of reckoning. Inferiors suddenly lifted to authority delight in harrassing their former superiors. There is no happiness.

Hatred that hovered over Europe and eventuated in war has not been dissipated. It merely has been blown about until it has settled in different spots.

The assertion of Root, the concrete facts cited by Steiner, all point to the futility of any hope of settling the affairs of the world on a permanent basis, until a plan has been formulated for settling them honestly and justly. While nations continue a policy of hatred there cannot be an abiding peace encompassing them all. The coming conference may accomplish much. On the other hand, there is the possibility that old antagonisms may be aroused to more ardent glow or fresh ones started. If hatred comes into the chamber of debate, wisdom cannot abide there.

For thousands of miles Canada and the United States touch. The border is not protected. No protection is needed. Such ought to be the conditions throughout the world where two powers meet at the boundary. Such would be the condition save for one thing. Hatred.

HOW RUSSIA PUZZLES

Nations do not know what to do concerning Russia. They are deprived of the chance of doing nothing, and letting the soviets take their course, by the attitude and purpose of the soviets.

Trotzky in an address just delivered declared to his followers that they were faced with the necessity of more systematic work "to create a revolutionary party in every country."

Thus Trotzky virtually declares the soviet government at war with civilization. The teaching of the agents of bolshevism have resulted in outbreaks at different points in Europe. They have threatened the stability of governments set up there as instrumentalities of law and order. They even have gone so far as insidiously to seek to undermine such fully established concerns as England, France and Italy.

The men at the head of Russian affairs desire to be let alone. They express wonder that any should seek to interfere with them. Yet they will not let anybody else alone, and they try to interfere with all that tends to maintain civilization. They promised to cease spreading their propaganda in the British possessions, and broke the promise shamelessly.

Despite all this there is under consideration a plan to lend the soviet government half a billion in credits to enable the resumption of farming. The needs would be seed, machinery, draft animals and means of distribution. It is said that ample security is offered.

Americans would be glad to make easier the hard lot of the Russians. If they do so, it must be at peril of having the results of their beneficence turned against them. They may be contributing to the revolution Trotzky plans.

Russia wants help, and appears to be ready to bite the hand that proffers the help.

DER NEXT TAG

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Fanaticism dies hard.

The belief of the German Junkers in The Day when they were going to bestride the world like a Colossus, and incidentally humble Great Britain, domineer France and parcel out America, was a faith that rose to the heights of the fanaticism of the early martyrs or the zeal of soldiers of Allah.

Der Tag, however, when it came, was a bad one for them. It was decidedly a rainy day.

But now they are preparing for the next Tag.

They are doing it in the time honored way of organizing secret societies.

All the mystery, hocus pocus and pow wow of the Ku Klux Klan, the Rosicrucians and other theatric bands are adopted to catch the romantic fancy of the younger element.

They call themselves the Bund der Unbedingten, which, translated into the native dialect of Missouri, means that "they hain't a skeared of nobody."

They are like the braves of Italian history, or the Assassins of the East, followers of that shaik al jabal, or Old Man of the Mountain.

They are sworn to bring back the Hohenzollerns and put Deutschland ueber alles "anyhow." Also to put a Wittelsbach again upon the throne of Bavaria.

It is strange what strong romantic appeal monarchy has to men's minds.

The royalists of France are much more picturesque than the republicans, the cavaliers of England than the roundheads, and the old slaveholding oligarchs of the South than the modern democrats.

But, then, the burglar is more picturesque than a policeman.

The symbol of this conspiracy, which has its ramifications all over Germany, is the Swastika, a very ancient and occult kind of cross with bent arms.

Its members are drawn from the old officer class which has been greatly reduced in circumstances by the revolution.

"The leaders of this movement," says a Paris newspaper, "are the same as those of the Kapp revolution—Colonel Bauer, Captain Ehrardt and Major Pabst. It is almost certain that General Ludendorff stands close to them, though probably he does not share the knowledge of their criminal activities in the way of assassinations.

"The conspirators constantly hold secret councils of war at Rosenheim, near Munich, where the reactionary Bavarian government connives at their presence. While in the hatred felt by Conservative Catholic Bavaria for the Socialist central government of Berlin they hope to find local support when "Der Tag" comes.

"The striking force on which the Royalists rely consists of members of the former 'Free Corps,' which were enrolled under independent leaders during the German Revolution and afterwards saw service in the Baltic provinces. Large numbers of these men are now concealed in the country estates of junkers, where they pass for farmhands, and where also there are considerable stores of weapons and munitions."

The Allgemeine Zeitung fuer Mitteldeutschland, or General News of Middle Germany, one of Hugo Stinnes' papers, says that the Unbedingten are increasing their crimes and that "in the near future there will be some more mysterious assassinations."

THE LISTENING POST

Cowardice.

Among men held to be the most contemptible of weaknesses.

And yet a natural weakness.

Arising out of the natural instinct for self-preservation.

* * *

Nature implants the instinct for self preservation in all of her sentient creatures.

And in the flower and shrub and bush.

She designs the survival of that which she creates.

* * *

So she gives the lion strength and cruelty.

The rabbit timidity and fleetness.

The elephant ponderous bulk and tusks and pachydermatous skin.

The flea agility.

The ant persistence.

* * *

And so we might follow the various forms of life.

To discover how in each case nature has given some protective scheme or instinct.

* * *

But there are in the lives of civilized beings times when something bigger than instinct arises.

That is unselfishness.

The self-abnegation of the individual for the sake of many individuals.

* * *

As with the soldier who goes to death that those coming after him may live more happily.

Be secure and safe in body and work and all that.

The hero who gives his life to save another life.

And whose reward is the cross or medal.

* * *

Something that tells how education and refinement and spirit have arisen over the baser selfishness of natural instinct.

Men who are strong and courageous and who overcome fear.

* * *

They do not banish fear.

They rise above it.

Something in them drives them on to give life itself for a principle.

An ideal.

* * *

And so cowardice among men is held contemptible.

The shield of the police officer is torn from him, because he was cowardly.

The cowardly soldier is degraded if not executed.

The sword of the cowardly leader is taken from him and broken.

And his epaulets torn off.

* * *

And yet cowardice is one of the ruling things in life and activity.

Not necessarily on the field of battle.

Not in the obvious and conspicuous emergency.

But in the daily little affairs.

* * *

A man knows what to do.

He knows that this or that thing is something he should not do.

Yet he does or does not do something, knowing all the time it is not the manly and right thing.

Why?

Cowardice.

* * *

He fears to lose the approval of public opinion.

He fears to lose a job.

He fears his family will suffer from his independence of thinking.

And so he compromises, concedes, tolerates, submits.

* * *

If a ship is sinking from holes in the hull, the captain knows what to do to prevent sinking of his ship.

It may be necessary to send a man down there at the risk of life.

It may be necessary for him to go himself.

But if no one has the courage to go, then the captain and crew might as well be ignorant of means for saving the ship.

* * *

If the man in his daily life knows the right thing to do, but dares not do it, he might as well not know.

An ideal is useless without defense.

The man who knows right and lacks courage will never rise out of the ruck and muck of expediency.

* * *

Ideals are to be defended.

Fought for.

Maintained at the cost of reputation, property, even life.

If this were not true, we had never won a war.

* * *

Yet the man who will risk life on the field of battle, will sometimes compromise in the littler battles of peace and daily life.

He knows.

But he hesitates.

He is afraid.

* * *

Fear saps every bit of strength in life.

It is the deadly enemy of independence and progress and achievement.

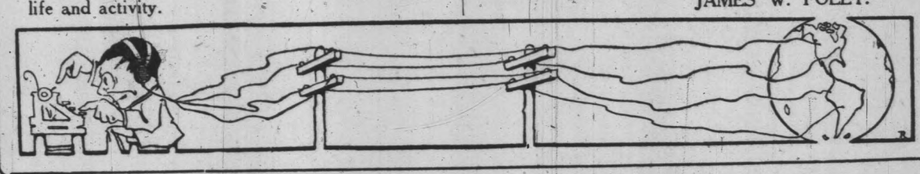
And how often our own consciences break our buttons of rank!

swords and strip off our epaulets and cut off the

Because of little acts of cowardice.

Because we are afraid to fight for the cause we knew to be just.

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

The Old—By Roden Noel (1834-1894)

They are waiting on the shore
For the bark to take them home:
They will toil and grieve no more;
The hour for release hath come.

All their long life lies behind
Like a dimly blending dream:
There is nothing left to bind
To the realms that only seem.

They are waiting for the boat;
There is nothing left to do:
What was near them grows remote,
Happy silence falls like dew;
Now the shadowy bark has come,
And the weary may go home.

By still water they would rest
In the shadow of the tree,
After battle sleep is best,
After noise, tranquility.

There are enough unemployed to supply unprecedented throngs at the world's series, but these thousands who have time to burn are not objects of charity, and if they require outdoor relief it is on account of the weather and not on account of the emptiness of their pockets. Business may be in a regrettable condition, but the gate receipts at the Dempsey-Carpentier encounter and at the world's series give no indications thereof.

DISBARRING A LAWYER

[Lowell Courier-Citizen]

It's a pretty serious thing, disbarring a lawyer from practice of his profession. It amounts to a sort of capital punishment in the professional way and therefore it naturally awakens the human being's customary reluctance to do anything so drastic. Nevertheless it is perfectly plain that there are occasional cases of misdoing which call for the application this retributive remedy, where the good of society far outweighs one's duty of consideration for the individual. Lawyers who do not wish to be denied the privilege of practicing law have only to conduct themselves in such a way as to make their disbarment impossible of suggestion.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

The attitude of a portion of the press towards persons charged with murder is amazing. Perhaps it never had a more striking illustration than in the case of Burch and Obenchain, the latter a woman. While still in their cells they have had no seclusion. Both have been paraded in public. Long and idle narrations have been put into the mouths of each. They have been duly tried in print, and acquitted or convinced according to the mood of the amateur sleuths.

A former husband of the woman, who seemingly failed to recognize his good fortune in being rid of her, has been erected into a hero because he flew to her side, a position from which she had ousted him because of her declared love for another man. The other man was the individual who had the mischance to be murdered.

According to statements that have the color of official sanction, the state has a perfect case against the pair. It is built up on the theory that they are equally guilty. If there is no basis for the theory, they might as well be turned loose now as later.

All sorts of tales are told as to their respective attitudes. That the element of truth is in any of these tales there is no proof, and no particular reason for believing.

The woman has a pretty face. Judged by her authenticated record as it has come to light, she has no sense. Marriage to her seems to have had no meaning. Apparently she is devoid of soul as the Lorelei winning men to destruction.

The one duty of society towards the prisoners is to give them fair trial, to punish them if guilty, and if innocent, to discharge and forget them. Innocent or guilty, they are being permitted overly to annoy human intelligence.

Probably the Hearst papers were alone in offering an insult to Marshal Foch, honored guest of the nation. They portrayed in cartoon what they conceived to be the purpose of his visit, this the endeavor to have the debts of Europe to this country wiped out.

Adding emphasis to the affront, Brisbane declared in the same issue: "Soon they will change the 'arms conference' to a 'cash' conference."

He adds that reduction in armaments would help Europe, but that "cutting off eleven thousand million dollars that Europe owes us would help more."

That any insinuation could be more contemptible, malignant and baseless, is doubtful. If such possibility exists, the insinuation would have to come from the same source.

A "perfect" young woman has been discovered, and admits it. She is ready to marry a "perfect" young man for breeding purposes, but is embarrassed by the fact that five of these have come modestly into public view.

But these perfect types have overlooked the essential of brains. The best people have brains, character, many traits quite apart from those of the wallowing swine.

Driving in a county machine and accompanied by a woman, the pair being intoxicated, a deputy sheriff crashed into a corner, accomplishing considerable havoc. It happened that at the instant of the accident, he had turned the duty of steering over to his companion, who sober, would have been wholly incompetent.

Recently the woman came up for trial on the charge of driving while intoxicated. The judge indignantly released her, and was right.

It seems that the man, who was the real transgressor, had been freed from jail, and apparently from responsibility within two days of the escapade. The woman had been held, and thrust forward to take the medicine for both.

Efforts of the male to hide behind skirts are not rare, but there are few meaner instances of record.

CITY MANAGER TALKS AT TUESDAY CLUB

The first of the open forum meetings inaugurated by the Tuesday Afternoon Club, was held Tuesday, with Mrs. Charles H. Hutchinson, official head of the club, presiding.

Mrs. Hutchinson explained that it is an innovation on the policy of the club in the past and that as she had always believed in seeing America first, feels that the club forum should first open its doors to the problems of Glendale as they might be presented by its city manager, W. B. Reeves.

Before he was called on to speak, however, two earnest young women Miss Mabel Farrington and Miss Elise Truran, both of whom have been workers in the near east relief in the Trans Caucasus, told of the misery they had witnessed and the utter inadequacy of the present means for relieving the starvation and suffering among children.

Miss Farrington, who was sent to the capital of Armenia, a city normally of 45,00 population, told of establishing within three months after her arrival 28 orphanages, sheltering 6,000 besides a shelter station where 2,200 orphans were received daily, bathed and clothed and made ready for the orphanage. When these were filled and word went out to the surrounding villages that another orphanage would be opened for children who presented official credentials that they were orphans ,they were simply swamped by emploring children who besieged their headquarters crying day and night for shelter and succor which they were utterly powerless to furnish and so, heartbreaking as conditions were, they had to send the children back where they came from.

That the people of the United States may see and know the conditions that actually exist the young women are touring the country and addressing clubs, leaving with them subscription books to be filled and forwarded to relief headquarters in Los Angeles.

Mr. Reeves, when called upon, expressed his sense of the honor accorded him in being the first speaker in the club's open forum on the theme, "Glendale, its future and its needs."

The future, he declared, we could forecast by the past, since there is not the slightest indication that its growth is to cease. What we need to do, he said, is to get out of the way and let the city grow and by that he explained, he meant trying not to retard progress.

He reviewed the form of the city government divided under the charter into five departments with a councilman as the presiding genius of each and a city manager as an executive officer who may sometimes suggest legislation.

Mr. Reeves then took up some of the specific problems mentioned first that of water pipes and endeavoring to show that they could not be laid free, that it is impossible for the city to do anything that the people do not pay for in one way or another.

Tax bills this year, he admitted are enormous, but said that more than half the assessment represented educational work, and that the city realizes only about 21 per cent.

City employes, he enumerated as 148, receiving $16,620 per month, or an average to each employe of $111 per month.

Among urgent needs he mentioned a city park and a municipal warehouse where the automobiles and other property of the city in the line of machinery and supplies could be housed and urged his hearers to support a bond issue for that purpose when it comes up for their vote. Verdugo Woodlands was mentioned as ideal for park purposes and he expressed the wish that some of it might be secured.

The garbage problem was referred to and his hope that the city might some time have an up-to-date incinerator as a disposal plant, and have the cost of gargage collection made a part of the city tax instead of an assessment.

He also referred to the sewer problem as the great, big vital issue which must be solved at home, and again asked his audience to support a bond issue if it comes before them, to purchase land for disposal works.

He spoke of economies he has been able to effect, and of the weed problem on vacant lots which he seemed to think should be plowed under by the city twice during the season and not burned.

In the discussion which followed Dr. Jessie Russell suggested that the garbage tax brought in money from many non-property owners who would not otherwise contribute a penny to the city government. She also spoke of the expectation on the part of the Board of Freeholders who framed the city charter that it would need to be amended in several respects but it was the best instrument possible, to secure at the time it was drafted.

Mrs. John Robert White inquired wherein the city would profit in doing its own assessing and collecting instead of having it done by the county which the speaker had suggested. Mr Reeves replied that it would have the immediate use of the money as it came instead of having to wait weeks and months as now and perhaps being compelled to borrow.

Mrs. Hutchinson asked if it might not be possible to use the campus of the city library as a little public park and resting place, and Mr. Reeves replied that it would be entirely practicable and suggested that the request be presented to the city council.

GIRLS' SOCIETY MEETING TUESDAY

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mark's Episcopal church met Tuesday night in the guild hall with a good number in attendance. The evening was spent in sewing on a rag rug to be given to the Deaconess Wilde Baby Home in Los Angeles at Thanksgiving.

During the course of the evening piano solos by Miss Litch and Miss Gertrude Champlain were enjoyed.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIETY MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of the Presbyterian church was held Tuesday at the church. The morning was devoted to sewing for the missionary society, after which the ladies enjoyed lunch, each one having brought her own.

In the afternoon a business meeting for all officers and chairmen was held.

—*—

ALL-DAY MEETING AT POLLOCK HOME

An all-day meeting for business and sewing was held Tuesday by Chapter A.H. of the P. E. O. at the home of Mrs. S. A. Pollock on Arden avenue. The quilt for the Monte Vista Home, on which the chapter had been at work, was finished, and another one started.

A light lunch was served at noon by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Clyde Carmack, covers being laid for 15. The next meeting, which will be the regular luncheon and program, will be held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Beach on Brand boulevard.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM REBEKAH MEETING

Following the regular business session of Carnation Rebekah Lodge, Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows hall a Hallowe'en party was enjoyed. Hallowe'en games were played and a fine program of violin numbers was given by Verne Ison of Burbank, recently from Portland, Ore., where he was a member of the Symphony Orchestra and the youngest violinist who had ever played with that organization.

His program included "Humoresque" and several of Kriesler's compositions. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Sparrow of Burbank, and the violin used was made by George M. Anderson of this city.

Following the program a cafeteria supper was served in the banquet hall of the lodge.

At the business session, R. P. Hamilton of 830 Harvard street was elected to membership and applications for membership were received from J. W. Jones of the Gillette apartments and Mrs. Louise Schwitters of North Adams street, and these and a number of others will be initiated at the next regular meeting, November 22.

The committee which had charge of the evening's program included Mesdames J. W. Jones, Alfred Baines and Charles Pease.

MISS STEELE GIVES PROGRAM AT HOME

Miss Helen M. Steele, 416 North Isabel street, entertained Tuesday evening in honor of her brother, T. E. Steele. Yellow chrysanthemums and potted plants were used in the decoration of her home and guests were entertained with a brief program which included readings by Miss Margaret Johnson, Miss Hazel Carr and the hostess. A scene from "As You Like It" was given in which Miss Steele took the part of Rosalind and Miss Johnson of Celia.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bart made interesting talks and Mr. Steele contributed a saxophone solo.

The balance of the evening was devoted to music, games and general sociability, with refreshments of ice cream and cake served at the close.

Those present besides the hostess and her brother were Miss Margaret Johnson, assistant hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bart, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Smith, Mrs. B. O. Carr, Miss Hazel Carr, Miss Alice Evans, Miss Zoe Royce and Miss Jennie Foland.

MARY MANBERT IS PARTY HOSTESS

Mrs. Barton Manbert of 621 South Columbus avenue entertained Saturday night at a masquerade party for her daughter, Miss Mary. The house was very attractively decorated in orange and black, with cats and witches and plenty of pumpkins.

The evening was spent in playing games and music, after which delicious refreshments of fruit salad, assorted sandwiches, fruit punch and tiny orange ice cream pumpkins with green stems and cakes, were served.

The guests for the evening included Miss Betty Fell, Miss Virginia Huntley, Miss Evelyn Gregg, Miss Gladys Peckham, Miss Doris Packer, Miss Ethel Oliver, Miss Cecil Chase, Miss Evelyn Sawyer and Miss Mary Manbert; Messrs. Bob White, Paul Hutchinson, Maynard Toll, Paul Holland, Stillman Chase, John Richardson, George Roach and Charles Manbert.

CHRISTIAN CIRCLE MEETING TUESDAY

The supper and Bible conference of the Christian Circle Club Tuesday night at the Baptist church drew an attendance of 60 girls. Preceding the supper, was a meeting of the executive board which had charge of the supper arrangements, and general business of the circle, with Miss Maude Soper presiding.

Miss Nell Liggett, the new president of the circle, was made chairman of publicity, and the board decided to inaugurate an attendance and membership drive which will be conducted by the girl members under captains. The supper was followed by the usual Bible study, conducted by Miss Soper. The meeting as a whole was marked by increased enthusiasm and deepening interest.

R. T. W. CLASS MET TUESDAY

Members of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. L. Hatch, 618 North Kenwood street, where a short business session was followed by a sale which yielded $16 for the treasury of the organization.

Following a social hour, refreshments of cake and punch were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Roy L. Kent and Mrs. Paul Cross.

SUES FOR JEWELS GIFT OF LATE CZAR

LYDIA LIPKOWSKA

Lydia Lipkowska, Russian prima donna, who has filed suit against Samuel Schepps, Inc., of New York, for jewels and furs valued at $127,000. The jewels and furs were given to her by the late Czar of Russia, it is said. Mme. Lipkowska says Schepps gained possession of the articles by misrepresenting himself as a broker.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

TRAILER THE HOUND IS FOUND
By JOHN BARTON
(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

Up and over the gate went Redskin, light as Nibble Rabbit sailing over a bush. And Tommy Peele and Louie Thomson went with him. It would take a bigger jounce than that to tumble them off—a jounce like the roan mare Tommy's big cousin Sandy was riding gave him.

She had never jumped in her life and she didn't want to learn. Neither did she want Redskin to go off and leave her behind. And Sandy was scared to death at the way those foolish youngsters were racing along; he wasn't going to stop to unwire that gate. He galloped her at it. Up went his rens at just the proper second and somehow or other she found her front feet on the other side, with her hind ones dragging across the rail. She'd have made the Red Cow laugh, and the Red Cow wasn't graceful.

"Err—waugh!" barked old Watch, dancing puppy-fashion between the great big hole the foxes had dug into Chips Beaver's hole by the Little Dark Pool and the willow where they had treed Tad Coon.

"Hie out, old fellow!" squealed Tommy, "Go on and find 'em!"

"S—sic 'em!" urged Louie. Redskin was dancing so hard they couldn't see the footprints Watch was trying to show them. They wanted to hunt and they didn't care who they were hunting. They knew it wouldn't be any of their Woodsfolk because Watch wouldn't chase them.

Off they went again, 'most treading on Watch's ail.

"Hn-n-n-wait!" whinnied the roan mare. "I can't gallop so fast. It's so rough and tangly in all this brush I keep tripping."

"Pick up your feet, then!" Redskin neighed back; and that's all the satisfaction she got from him. It wasn't the first time he'd had two little boys on him, laughing and shouting. He put out his nose and ran—but he was careful not to run under low branches that might scrape them off of his back.

Before long even the roan mare "found herself," as the saying is, and caught up with them. Then they did have a race—a race that never finished till they found themselves floundering in the edge of the Big Marsh, where the Red Cow turned back.

But Redskin didn't. He raced around the end of it with his eye on Watch, who was skipping across the grass tufts. "Wow-wow!" he barked. And from far across the Grassy Field, by Malty Kitten's cabin, a surprised voice answeerd. "Tow-row-row!"

It was Trailer the Hound! He was coming to meet them, tail up and head down, singing his song. My, but he had a lot to tell them!

Glendale's Shopping Guide Brings The Usual and Unusual To You

In her journeys from place to place, Martha Alicia finds many things of interest Mr. Glendale, Mrs. Glendale and all the Glendale youngsters. As a "shopping scout" for Glendale Daily Press readers, Martha Alicia covers many steps for buyers.

EVERYONE, I BELIEVE, LOVES the dance tunes and wonderful rythmic melodies that characterize Paul Whiteman's Victor records! You will welcome the addition to the already successful list of "Sweet Lady" a medley fox-trot, rather dashing at times, and introducing "There's a Sunbeam for Every Drop of Rain." Its coupling, "Say It with Music," suggests just a glimpse of the Barcarolle from "Love Tales of Hoffman."

For the informal dance there could be no more delightful entertainment than "South Sea Isles," another world-beating fox-trot, all that its name implies, a dance-compelling number with all the charm and wonder of the Tropics on a summer night, and perfectly expressed by this peer of American orchestra leaders—Paul Whiteman!

These are November Victor releases, now on sale at the GLENDALE MUSIC CO., 109 North Brand Blvd. Not the least of them is a gentle cradle song of Plantation days—"Tuck Me to Sleep," sung by Vernon Dalhart and the Criterion Trio, coupled with "Plantation Lullaby," sung by Charles Hart and Elliot Shaw. When you are near the Glendale Music Co., don't fail to stop in and ask to hear the new McCormack record, "Little Town in the Ould Country Down," just the sort of Irish song one likes to hear him sing. Galli Curci in one of her most charming numbers, "Love's Messenger Waltz," is another new one. There are ever so many more, but these I'll leave to your imagination—that you may more fully enjoy them when you go to the Glendale Music Co. and hear them. They are always happy to demonstrate.

For fall, some heavy silk crepe coat dresses are shown, and for later, velvet and some of the pile fabrics that simulate fur are employed. Full length sleeves predominate in dresses of the coat type.

* * *

IT'S JUST A NEW LITTLE SHOP which GLENN R. DOLBERG has opened at 206½ West Broadway—but already he has proven that it is quality rather than quantity that counts! Mr. Dolberg makes the most ideal photograph for the Xmas gift—in the tasteful sepia shadings and attractively mounted in nifty folders—just 3 by 5! To have Mr. Dolberg pose one is to have one's own personality expressed in photo form! But if you are wise you will not wait until the last-minute Xmas rush!

* * *

One rather striking new fashion is to wear leather straps above the ankles.

* * *

IF IT'S NEW AND UP-TO-DATE in the "aids to beauty" line—you may be sure that Mrs. Billig of the BROADWAY BEAUTY PARLOR at 214 East Broadway has it. Wasn't it she who first displayed those wonderful side waves for hair, about which I told you last week? In her attractive shop on the second floor, Mrs. Billig has established herself as an expert manicurist, masseuse and hairdresser. And, too, you will find her prices unusually reasonable and the work most satisfactory!

* * *

Gingham vestees and collar and cuff sets are popular suit accessories.

* * *

A CONSTANT REMINDER OF A happy Yuletide thought from some dear one, is a delightful motto card, with, perhaps, a Friendship verse! At BOTT'S BOOK STORE, 113 South Brand Blvd., you'll find an excellent selection of cards, many of them with dainty, hand-painted motifs—and all with charming verses! There I am sure you will be able to select a verse, entirely appropriate, for the year's new acquaintance or for old friendship's sake!

* * *

Blossoming cretonnes make gay summer sunshades.

* * *

Almost decorative are tiny enameled kitchen scales.

* * *

A COMFY BIG ROCKER, COSILY drawn up before a blazing wood fire, a good book, or congenial friends with whom to converse—could an evening be spent more pleasantly? Father will surely be delighted with a "man's size" overstuffed leather rocker, such as I saw at the ENTERPRISE FURNITURE CO., of 216 East Broadway, today! And, you know, although their quality is of the very best, the prices at the Enterprise Furniture Co. are exceptionally low!

NOVEMBER is here, and with it comes the visions of "turkey and dressing." It is a little too early to talk "turkey," but I am never tired when talking about "dressing." The way to a man's heart is through his stomach—true as Gospel—but the way to a woman's heart is "BARGAINS." We all—we women—enjoy getting something for just a little less than it used to be. A bargain is a bargain, called by any other name it would still be a bargain. That is what I looked for in my rounds today and that is what I present to you in every phase of my story. It is just a little bewildering now to go through the shops and make your pocketbook stay put. Read every one of my suggestions today—every one.

THE NEW ARRIVALS IN THE Knit Goods section at HATZ'S SHOP FOR CORRECT WOMEN'S WEAR, this week, include some of the most beautiful Camel's-hair scarfs I have ever seen, barring none! They are luxuriantly soft, comfortable scarfs—a veritable joy for cool evenings when Milady would stroll in the moonlight. And, as for the color combinations—they, too, are delightful! From faraway Egypt came the camel's-hair in huge bales, to be woven, after a series of scouring, bleaching and combing, into charming scarfs designed to enhance woman's charms! For Xmas time, one of these genuine camel's-hair scarfs will be a most acceptable gift—for 'twill add materially to the joy and comfort of Milady! Stop in at Hatz's 132 South Brand Blvd., and have one laid aside for you—they are only $10.00 each!

In using any canned meat or fish the flavor is much improved if the can is opened at least one hour before using, the contents quickly washed in cold water and the fish thoroughly drained. Then expose to the outside air for 20 minutes and chill in the ice-box.

HOW OFTEN YOU'VE SPENT sleepless nights in anticipation of the Xmas tree's splendor! Surely, you'll not deny your little tots the breathless wonderment contained in those first few moments when, in all its glory, the "tree" bursts upon their vision! But if you really intend to have a lovely tree, I'd suggest that you order your Xmas tree ornaments now at FISHER'S VARIETY STORE 212 East Broadway! They have a full line of ornaments, and also Xmas cards and little booklets, tinsel cord and ribbonzen for tying packages, the little Xmas seals and tags—even to regular Xmas boxes—for the "folks back home." Now is the time to lay in your supply and have things all ready!

* * *

Fabric and color combinations are highly approved by blouse designers, and many new and interesting sleeve styles are displayed.

Sandal type of shoe is still in favor in France, and the effect is emphasized by slashes and perforations over the toe.

A BEWITCHING SPANISH VEIL, alluringly lovely in its suggestion of Sunny Spain, is really "quite the thing" now! Mrs. Yarbrough of YARBROUGH'S HAT SHOPPE, 108 West Broadway, has anticipated Dame Fashion's call, if one may judge by her enchanting display of veils—some with colored dots and fetching tassels—others plain! Mrs. Yarbrough also has a nice assortment of flowered turbans, in 'most any shade that becomes one, and handsomely trimmed with hand-made French flowers! A turban, you know, is always a delightful evening hat, whether it be for motoring or for the theater—and so very comfortable!

NEW FALL HATS FOR MEN! Yes, indeed, ROBINSON'S MEN'S SHOP, at 116-A South Brand Blvd., has just received the second stock of late fall models for men, embracing a line so large, with such varied shapes, that they are now able to correctly fit every man! And, no matter what your taste may be, or what the occasion calls for in the way of headgear, there is just the hat to please you at Robinson's. For the large man there are large shapes, and for the fastidious dresser we find the close-curled brims—in short, just the model to express your personality! And, too, Mr. Robinson tells me that as a result of this second shipment he is able to offer better hats, at $3.00 and up, than he could offer in the spring line for $5.00!

And, hand in hand with this revelation, comes the announcement of the arrival of the new mid-winter line of cloth hats—made with the haircloth tops to withstand the rain. There are also other models in the new Herringbones, Tweeds and Checks to match overcoats, with an excellent supply of smart Felts!

Glass cooking dishes are a good investment. They can be used for cooking and serving vegetables, pies, puddings and all sorts of desserts. They can also be used, in casserole style, for stews and other meats.

HOW ABOUT CHRISTMAS? Already the shops are filled with women who have forseen the advantages of shopping early. They have been saving their money to this end throughout the year. You will find that a checking account at the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF GLENDALE, corner of Brand Blvd. and East Broadway, will be of inestimable value to you in checking your expenditures. Then too, just think of the time in each store that you must spend in waiting for change. This will all be eliminated when you can simply tender a check on the First National Bank, receive your package, and be on your way!

It is indeed a pleasure to do business with such an organization as the First National, for its officials and employes are always courteous and eager to help and serve patrons whenever possible. You may feel at liberty to go to them with your financial problems at any time—they will give you the utmost consideration.

When creaming margerine pour boiling water into the bowl and then pour it quickly out again. Dry well before putting in the fat. The bowl will be heated very slightly and the margerine will be easier to cream.

QUITE THE MOST ADORABLE little five-room bungalow I've seen in a long time is the perfect dream of a house on Harvard Street, for which J. F. STANFORD, 112½ South Brand Blvd., is the agent! There are two bedrooms, one in blue and one in pink, with a lovely built-in bath, all on a central hall! The living room is finished in a soft, lustre-like French gray, with a wonderful fireplace of tapestry brick, and a large built-in desk and bookcase—beautifully finished, even to glass door-knobs! There are hardwood floors throughout, and two comfortable porches, one on the side, of cement, with a charming pergola or trellis! The lot is of good size—50 by 125 feet—and you can buy it for only $1800 down and the balance at $50.00 per month! Don't miss the opportunity to have an ideal home at an extremely reasonable price. Call Mr. Stanford today!

"NIPPY" IS JUST THE WORD for these cool autumn mornings—and by the same token, a Universal Radiant Heater is just the remedy! At the GLENDALE ELECTRIC CO., 132 North Brand Blvd., you can buy, oh! extremely low in price, a dandy little heater, that may be easily carried from one room to another! They connect to the lamp socket on the wall—and inside of a few minutes there is the cosiest sort of a glow and heat permeating the entire room! The heating element is entirely protected—and if burned out can be easily replaced! But drop in next time you're near the postoffice and ask Mrs. Naudain to explain the new Universal heater to you.

A SONG ON MILO WHEAT

That wife who thought they'd have a change
And try some other food,
Saw her husband looking down his nose
As though not in good mood.
She quickly noticed something wrong
And said why can't you eat?
He looked straight at his wife and said
Have you no MILO WHEAT?

CHORUS
For all the folks who eat this food
I'm sure you will hear say
For strength, and health, and every ill
It's best we know today
We're living now on MILO WHEAT,
Our bank account will grow
For we can have a good square meal
For three cents now you know.

And then she saw her baby boy
Had pushed his plate aside,
She thought she'd make him eat it—
But he set there and cried.
Her daughter then looked up and said
"I surely have enough,
For after eating MILO WHEAT
I cannot go this stuff."

BUSINESS WOMEN IN SESSION TUESDAY PLAN LECTURE

Executive Board Hears Reports of Progress From Various Members

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club over which Mrs. Margaret Biggs presided Tuesday night in the office of Dr. Laura Brown, reports were received from officers and committees.

The president and Mrs. May Myton, chairman of the vocational guidance committee, reported concerning the banquet and conference of the County Federation at which vocational guidance was one of the subjects of discussion, and President Biggs reported successful negotiations with Professor J. Eugene Harley of the University of Southern California, who has agreed to address the Glendale club at its next meeting, November 8, on the subject of "Disarmament."

Prof. Harley is a fine speaker and well equipped to present the subject in a clear, comprehensive way. He is now at the head of the department of political science in U. S. C., and was formerly Carnegie Fellow in International Law at Harvard University.

Miss Pollard, to whom has been delegated responsibility for a gymnasium class, reported information received from A. L. Ferguson, principal of the night school of Glendale High that unless something unforseen happens to prevent, the school would be prepared to start a class for the Club, Tuesday, November 8.

Miss Pollard stated, in answer to inquiry, that the chamber of commerce would be in a position to offer the club permanent quarters by November 22, the date of its second November meeting, and at the suggestion of the president the board voted to hold its charter open until that date.

Miss Nellie Warner was made chairman of a committee to investigate the outlook for securing a rest room for business women at the noon hour in the down town district.

Mrs. Baxter as chairman of membership reported an enrollment of 70, with others listed who have expressed an intention to join.

The balance of the session was devoted to selection of members who are to serve on the various standing committees, the personnel of which will be announced at the regular session next Tuesday night, in the girls' gymnasium of Glendale High.

Board members present were Mrs. Margaret Biggs, Dr. Laura Brown, Miss Inez Vasey, Miss Sara Pollard, Mrs. Mary Baxter, Mrs. Lucretia Quackenbush, Mrs. May Myton, Mrs. Grace Yarbrough, Miss Gertrude Gibbs, Miss Margaret Cross.

Town Topics

Directors Meet—A business meeting of the board of directors of the Glendale Research Hospital will be held in the office of Roy L. Kent on South Brand boulevard Thursday evening at 7:30. Considerable business of interest to the institution will be brought before the meeting.

Good Program—Monday was initiation night at the Glendale Elks' Lodge. At the conclusion of the regular work an exceedingly fine entertainment was put on by Kaumauka Lewis of this city and four assisting Hawaiians.

Tie Score—The soccer game in the Inter-School League, in which the Pacific avenue team faced the boys of Broadway, on the Broadway field Monday afternoon, resulted in a tie of 2 to 2.

Dinner Party—Miss Edith Palutzke of 445 Myrtle street Monday night entertained about 15 girls at a delightful dinner party. The usual Hallowe'en colors and emblems decorated the house and a pleasant evening was spent by the small guests with music and Hallowe'en games.

Gets Buick—Miss Alice Frank of 1558 East Wilson is the proud owner of a new Buick sedan, a gift to her from her mother, Mrs. E. Frank.

Sells Rapidly—It is reported that the Frank tract recently opened up on East Wilson and Broadway and is being subdivided, is selling very fast and only a few lots are left.

Novelty Shop—A new novelty shop has been opened at 107 West Broadway, H. E. Bines proprietor. He will carry a line of high-grade stationery, fancy goods and toys.

Postponed—The regular meeting of the Doran street P. T. A., which was to have been held this afternoon, has been postponed indefinitely on account of the death of Miss Bertha Hatch, sister of Miss Lois Hatch, principal. Miss Hatch was a resident of Hollywood.

Motor Trip—Major and Mrs. I. E. McLaren of 224 East Chestnut street returned from a two weeks' trip to San Francisco. They motored up the coast route, returning by way of the valley. Major McLaren is the coast representative of the Funk and Wagnalls Publishing Co. of New York.

Postpone Concert—The concert which was to have been given Tuesday night at the Christian church under the auspices of the Live Cole class has been postponed for two weeks until the church is in better condition for use.

Girls Play—Girl players of volley ball, at Intermediate, Team No. 2 and "The Midgets," will journey to the Cerritos campus this afternoon for a game with the senior team of that school, "The Lucky Nines," captained by Harriet Light, and the midgets of Cerritos captained by Pearl Mentzer. Miss Vera Sinclair, their director, will accompany the girls and the first game

Mrs. J. B. Hunt, who resides at the corner of Two Hundred and Fifty-seventh street and Governor avenue, Harbor City, is enjoying the recovery of the sight in her right eye as a result of an unusual operation, after having been blind in both eyes for several months. Her left eye was hopelessly blind and the pupil of her right eye was covered with a membrane which prevented sight. Having determined that the retina of this eye was still sensitive to light, a new pupil was made about the old obstructed one. Mrs. Hunt now sees through the new pupil.

Purely Personal

Mrs. C. M. Sparr of 234 South Jackson street is spending the week at Alamitos bay with friends.

Miss Nellie Warner, bookkeeper at the Glendale chamber of commerce, has been ill at her home, 320 North Orange street, for several days.

EDITORIALS
BY THE PEOPLE

Editor Glendale Press: The Glendale high school should be located at Broadway and Verdugo road.

1—It is the best and most central in the whole high school district.

2—It is the best soil for vegetables, flowers, gardens and for fruit.

3—It is the highest practical altitude in the city. It is 77 feet higher than the corner of Broadway and Brand and about 85 feet higher than the proposed locations on the west side.

4—So it is the most healthful location proposed.

5—It has the finest landscape views, overlooks most of Eagle Rock, most of Glendale, about half of San Fernando valley, all of Tropico, part of Hollywood and sees the Pacific ocean through the gap at the southwest.

6—Generally has no frost during the winter

7—It has a splendid well of water sufficient for all uses on the ground.

8—Best and most convenient transportation from all points. Red line within a block, every half hour. Eagle Rock and Montrose line, to and from Eagle Rock every half hour. Bus line to and from Pasadena and Ocean Park every half hour and the bus line to and from Los Angeles to Montrose, La Canada and La Crescenta every hour or shorter. Both these lines pass the location each way.

9—Best facilities for graduation exercises, within walking distance, 300 paces, or about 90 rods. Eagle Rock cars go past it every half hour. Two beautiful amphitheaters with perfect shade in each. Capable of holding two or five thousand people and five hundred autos. Between these, ten rods, is a splendid place for making a fine swimming pool if it is desired. It is altogether the best location in this city and cannot be beat.

REVIVAL STARTED ON NOVEMBER 6TH

Celebrated Speaker With Singers to be at Central Ave. M. E. Church

Beginning Sunday, November 6, there will be a three weeks' revival held at the Central Avenue Methodist church. There will be present at these meetings the famous Conner Trio, evangelistic singers. Prof. Conner is the director and trombone soloist, Mrs. Conner, pianiste and special worker for the women and Miss Helen, soloist, reader and special worker for the young people. These people have had 12 years of evangelistic work in the Middle West. This is their first trip to the West.

There will be 30 minutes ofspecial feature song service every evening. The three outstanding features of the meetings will be Wednesday evening of each week, beginning November 9, which evenings will be patriotic, and all patriotic bodies of South Glendale are invited as special guests. The following Wednesday evening, November 16, fathers and sons are invited, and Wednesday, November 23, will be mothers' and daughters' night. Each of the Wednesday night services will be preceded by a 6 o'clock supper.

MRS. CULBERSON IS HOSTESS TUESDAY

Woman's Club Will Hear Mrs. Clayton Taylor at Next Session

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 2.—The Tuesday Bridge Club members were charmingly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culberson last evening. Among the members present were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, Mrs. Richard Dewey, Mrs. Harriette Bastable, Miss Delicia Bastable and Donald Dewey. The guest table included Dr. and Mrs. V. A. Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, Mrs. F. Jonquest and Mrs. Margione Adams. The highest score of the club members was made by Dr. and Mrs. Nettleton and Mrs. Adams and Mr. Overell won the guest trophies.

The program committee of the La Crescenta Women's Club was fortunate in securing Mrs. Clayton Taylor of Pasadena for their next meeting, Wednesday, November 9. Mrs. Taylor will talk on "Federation of Clubs." The La Crescenta Women's Club will also have a jelly and fruit shower for the Monte Vista Lodge at this meeting.

C. H. Howard and J. H. Bernadeau of Pasadena have opened their new store on Los Angeles avenue, in the Bonetto tract. The store is most attractive. They have put in a complete line of groceries and will carry feed and fuel.

M. A. Phillips of Montrose avenue has sold his home to S. Bickel of Missouri. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will reside in Glendale for the present.

The regular meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement Association will be held in the school auditorium Thursday evening.

Mr. E. Erhardt and family, who moved to Los Angeles several months ago, returned here Monday and are again occupying their home on Rosemont avenue.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will have an all-day meeting at the church Thursday. A luncheon will be served at noon.

SMEARED INK OVER TWO RESIDENCES

Reports are still being received at police headquarters of Hallowe'en pranks. The latest is that of a Mr. Corday who said that some boys had disfigured his home at 404 Milford street. Officer McLean was detailed to investigate and found that ink had been smeared over the house and that the doorbell was broken. He found that similar damage had been committed at 408 Milford street.

MUCH RESTORED IN STOLEN PROPERTY

During the month of October the police department recovered stolen property valued at $1287.50, according to a report to City Manager Reeves by Chief of Police A. O. Martin.

The goods recovered range from clothing to automobile spotlights, tires, tools and a variety of small articles. Much of the stolen property was articles valued at less than $5. Most of this property was recovered from boys.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sul-
